SHOP CRAFTS STRIKE WILL BE FIGHT TO FINISH

THIS SEEMS TO BE
OPINION OF ONE
HIGH AUTHORITY

CHAIRMAN HOOPER SEEMS UN-ABLE TO FIND ANY COMMON GROUND FOR AGREEMENT

NORTHWEST SHOPMEN WILL STICK UNTIL NATL. SETTLE-MENT IS ARRANGED
(By United Press.)

Chicago, July 15.—A fight to a finish between striking railroad shopmen and their employers, was in prospect today.

The two forces are "irreconcilably opposed" and no settlement of the labor difficulties can be expected before a long drawn out battle is finished, according to information gained by the United Press today from highest authority.

Railroads prepared to go ahead with attempts to operate shops with strikebreakers on a greater scale than ever before.

Labor agencies are being flooded with requests for men. The unions trimmed their decks and reduced the strikers to a "fighting force" in preparation for the long fight.

St. Paul, July 15.—Northwest shopmen will stick.

Strike leaders here announced they will stand by other unions throughout the country in their effort to affect a national settlement.

R. A. Henning, chairman of the striking unions in this district, declared grievances of employees on 21 lines in the northwest, are identical with those of the workers throughout the country.

Only in the case of the Great Northern where employees are allowed overtime pay for work on Sunday and holidays, is there a difference. "Our cause is a common cause," said Mr. Henning, "the strikers ranks are more firm than they were when the strike began July 1. The strike is constantly becoming more powerful," he said.

Somebody Must Back Down

Chicago, July 15.—Railroad shopmen got set for a long drawn out strike today following virtual failure of peace negotiations.

"Fundamental differences prevent the strikers and railroad officials from reaching an immediate basis of agreement," Ben W. Hooper, of the United States railroad labor board, who has been acting as mediator, announced.

Hooper, although not giving up all hopes of an immediate settlement, said that either the unions or the company officials would have to back down.

He is continuing conferences with union officials and railroad heads. The strike leaders foreseeing a walkout, which may continue months, began selection of a "fighting force."

This force will be composed of about 15 to 20 per cent of the strikers, and will take charge of picketing and other shop activities. They will be assisted by wives and sisters of the strikers.

The remaining 80 per cent will take other than railroad work.

This plan, union officials believe, will lessen the chances of violence by not having strikers employed near railroads attempting to operate with strike breakers.

It will also help build up a strike benefit fund.

To Prevent Transportation
Down

Washington, July 15.—With hopes of settlement of the coal and railroad strikes growing dimmer, attention was centered today on what steps the administration may take to prevent a transportation breakdown and bring about resumption of mining.

Congress would have to pass additional legislation before President Harding could draft labor and force the miners and railroad men to resume work under government control, high legal authorities of the war department said today.

Discussion of the possibility of drafting labor resulted from a White House statement of last night which was to the effect that President Harding would not consider the drafting an infringement on citizens' rights and liberties in time of great emergencies.

A high administration official said today that any drafting of labor would be favored by the president only in an emergency of extreme character. It was stated the wrong impression had been given from the White House attitude.

The draft is not near, and has not even been considered, it was stated.

Strikers Enjoined

Cleveland, July 15.—Striking railroad workers were enjoined from interference with nonunion men and guards of the Erie railroad here today in an injunction issued by Federal Judge Westenhaver.

Petition of the B. & O. railroad for similar injunction will be heard Monday.

MRS. CAFFEE TELLS STORY OF BRUTAL MURDER OF WIDOW

LURED VICTIM TO REMOTE SPOT
AND THEN KILLED HER WITH HAMMER
(By United Press.)

Los Angeles, July 15.—Mrs. Peggy Caffee, eye witness of the "hammer murder" in which Mrs. Alberta Meadows was slain, today re-narrated the tragedy in the hills near Los Angeles for the benefit of police.

Mrs. A. L. Phillips, held under arrest at Tucson, Arizona, is accused of the murder by Mrs. Caffee, and by her own husband, who says she confessed to him.

While police looked on, Mrs. Caffee demonstrated how she alleges Mrs. Phillips goaded to cold rage by the belief her husband was intimate with Mrs. Meadows, lured the alleged "other woman" to a remote spot and then first accusing her of misconduct, slowly killed her by striking her with a hammer, purchased especially for the occasion.

Mrs. Caffee nearly collapsed as she went through the motions of the tragedy. She declared Mrs. Phillips invited her to go for an automobile ride and later asked Mrs. Meadows to accompany them.

Then she stopped the car at a remote spot, asked Mrs. Meadows to step out, accusing her of stealing her husband, and then attacked her with a hammer, Mrs. Caffee alleged.

When the doomed girl, held fast by her attacker, shrieked for help, Mrs. Phillips shook the bloody hammer at Mrs. Caffee, threatened her, and then continued her grim work, the witness asserted.

Police directed the taking of photographs as Mrs. Caffee enacted the tragedy.

Later Mrs. Caffee was ordered held incommunicado for the time being. She will be the chief witness for the prosecution.

Phillips, husband of the alleged murderess, is under guard as a material witness. It was he who informed police his wife had confessed the killing to him, enabling them to arrest her at Tucson.

Phillips refused to comment on the report that Mrs. Meadows, five hours before her death, had a long distance telephone conversation with a man she called "daddy," and arranged to meet him that day.

"We won't talk about that now," he said.

He insisted his relations with the dead girl were honorable. "Officials of the First National bank where she was employed, and her intimate acquaintances, said that they could not believe she had been guilty of misconduct with Phillips. It was announced the inquest will be held at 9 a. m. Monday.

FAILURE LOOMS TO HARDING' PROPOSAL TO END COAL STRIKE

REPORTED UNITED MINE WORK-ERS' COM. IS CERTAIN TO REJECT PROPOSAL
BECAUSE PRESIDENT DECLINED TO MODIFY PROPOSAL AS RE-QUESTED BY LEWIS
(By United Press.)

Washington, July 15.—Hope of ending the grave industrial crisis facing the country because of the coal and rail strikes, suddenly faded here today.

Despite threats of President Harding to seize and operate the coal mines and the railroads, if such action is necessary to save the country from a serious coal famine, or an extensive rail tie-up, failure looms for the executive's plan to end the coal dispute.

The United Mine Workers' policy committee, meeting here today to frame an answer to the president's arbitration proposal, is virtually certain to reject it. Previously favorable attitude toward the plan was suddenly changed into hostility by the refusal of Harding to agree to modifications of the proposal as asked by John L. Lewis.

Grave concern exists in official circles over the turn of events and the maze of intricate problems arising in both disputes as precedent to a settlement.

It is realized that unless prompt termination of the coal strike is secured, not enough coal can be moved into some parts of the country, particularly New England and the northwest, to prevent shortages there this winter.

The federal government today was marking time on the question of using troops in the rail strike.

President Harding is believed to have "put the brakes on" by immediate dispatch of the army to rail centers such as Oenison, Texas, where violence has occurred.

MINE HAS CAVEIN
SHAFTHED DROPS

Ironton, July 15.—Two bad caveins have hindered work at the Hillcrest this week. Saturday night, a section of the north side of the pit caved in and partially buried the steam shovel. The slide threatened the old shaft house and the tank, so the pumps were pulled and everything cleared away. Tuesday morning, about four o'clock, the shaft house dropped into the pit. As the shovel had been moved away, the work of clearing up the debris could begin at once.

In Golf Tournament
(By United Press.)

Skokie Country Club, Glencoe, Ill., July 15.—With a finished 54 of the 70 hole final in the national open championship golf tournament in the Skokie Country club, William C. Mehlhoin, Freeport, Louisiana, and Robert T. Jones of Atlanta, tied at 216 for the lead.

John Black, professional of Oakland, California leader at the end of yesterday's first 36 holes, had 217.

Walter Hagen of Detroit, British open champion, had 218 for fourth position, while Dene Farazen of Pittsburgh was next with 220.

Chick Evans had 222 and was tied with Mike Brady. Jock Hutchinson in the qualifying round followed with 223.

Defending the title, James Barnes reported 226, and was evidently out of the race.

PREMIER REFORMER PESSIMISTIC AS TO AMERICAN WOMEN

(By United Press.)

Columbus, Ohio, July 15.—Every American woman wants to be carried off by a sheik and live in a harem, William Crafts, premier reformer of the United States, told the ministers' summer school of the Ohio State University here today.

Crafts is here in the interest of a new crusade aimed at the "harem dance."

"America is up to its neck in a wave of Mohammedanism," Crafts charged. "The sheik is the hero of all femininity, and the dance is a tool of his infamous trade."

60 ARMED MEN RAID DISTILLERIES; SECURE WHISKY

York, Pa., July 15.—Sixty armed men with 15 trucks raided the Foust distilleries near Glenrock today, secured 300 barrels of whisky, and dashed for the Maryland line.

George Strine, guard, said he was surrounded suddenly with men with automatics who forced him to report to police that everything was "all right." He was not able to report the facts of the raid until after the bandits had loaded every barrel in the place on their trucks and disappeared.

Keeping the three guards covered, the raiding army rolled barrel after barrel of whisky from the storage room on the third floor down to their trucks.

After securing their booty, the caravan rolled away, headed for the Maryland line.

STRIKE END IN THREE DAYS IS FORECAST

SETTLEMENT OF SHOPMEN'S
WALKOUT IN NORTHWEST
PREDICTED BY HENNING
STATEMENT FOLLOWS CONFER-ENCE OF LEADERS AND "BIG FIVE" PRESIDENTS

Minneapolis, July 15.—Northwest railroad shopmen today asked their leaders to consider seriously the calling off of the strike in this territory regardless of what action is taken in other sections, the strikers emphasizing the desire to return to work, and that they feel they are only pawns in the game being played by national shop craft leaders in Chicago to settle the controversy on a national basis.

Union officials said it is true that the shopmen in the northwest have no grievances against their railroads and that it is apparent that the men could return to their jobs and be assured of just consideration of such minor adjustments as they ask.

ARMED BANDITS HOLD UP SHOE CO. PAYMASTER

(By United Press.)

Milwaukee, July 15.—Five bandits armed with sawed off shot guns and automatic revolvers held up and robbed the paymaster of the Edmunds Shoe company here today and escaped with the pay roll of $12,000.

AGED WOMAN, VICTIM OF BRUTAL ASSAULT, STILL HANGS ONTO LIFE

Grand Meadow, Minn., July 15.—Surviving wounds which ordinarily would cause almost instantaneous death in an aged person, Mrs. Wagner, 59, was still living today, and authorities hoped she might regain consciousness to tell who crushed her skull with an axe and killed her husband as he lay asleep Wednesday night.

John Terlinden, a relative and neighbor, said the axe used by the murderer was one owned by Wagner, and police testifying themselves, stated that the person who used the axe in the brutal assault on the aged pair, knew where to look for the weapon, and found it.

The axe was first used in prying open the screen door, and then on the heads of the wealthy old couple.

August Detloff, son-in-law of the Wagners, taken in custody at Leroy Thursday night, was still held in jail at Austin, and was being questioned as to the tragedy. Police said he comes of a prominent family, but that he was not in good faith either with the Wagner family or his own folks. Both families are among the oldest in this county, and have amassed considerable wealth.

Detloff claimed he was in Spring Valley at 9:30 Wednesday night, the night of the murder.

Police established the fact that he was there at that hour, but have not established his whereabouts after the hour.

The exact hour of the murder is not known by police, but they are certain it was after 10 p. m. Wednesday.

AUTOMOBILE TAX LAW RULED VALID BY SUPREME COURT

RESPONSIBILITY FOR FAIRNESS
OF MEASURE RESTS WITH LEGISLATURE

Minneapolis, July 15.—While recognizing that there are glaring irregularities in the taxes paid by automobile owners, the Minnesota supreme court, in a decision handed down yesterday, held the Minnesota automobile tax law under the Babcock amendment constitutional.

"The responsibility for the fairness and justice of a tax measure rests upon the legislature and the court may not decide a measure invalid merely because it does not come up to its conception of a proper method of taxation," the court ruled.

The decision was rendered in case of Charles N. Dobs of St. Paul, against Mike Holm, secretary of state and registrar of motor vehicles. April 30, 1921, Mr. Dobs purchased a secondhand car for $2,350. When he applied for license in May the factory list price of car purchased was $3,600, upon which amount he paid a 2 per cent tax under protest.

He started suit in Ramsey county district court where it was decided that the list price of November, 1919, should have been the basis of his tax and he was awarded a refund of $5. He appealed to the supreme court for further relief, attacking the automobile tax law as unconstitutional, because the taxes levied under it were not uniform.

The supreme court decided, first, that in requiring the owner of a motor vehicle to pay a tax for the entire calendar year if he became the owner prior to July 31, the legislature did not exceed its powers. It decided further that the constitutional requirement of uniformity is not disregarded because the act exempts certain vehicles which are still subject to taxation, as is other personal property.

FOR OVERLOADING HIS CAR IN FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

BODY OF WAYLAND SMITH TAK-EN TO MINNEAPOLIS BY
FATHER FOR BURIAL

Harry C. Toms was arraigned in municipal court at 12 noon today charged with manslaughter in the second degree after having been found guilty by the coroner's jury of carelessness in driving an overcrowded car, which resulted in the tragedy of Friday morning. The defendant demanded a hearing through his attorney, F. E. Murphy of Crosby, and the examination was set for July 21st at 2 p. m. He was remanded to the county jail to await his examination.

An inquest was held over the bodies of Wayland Harwood Smith of 3205 Columbus avenue, Minneapolis and Christine McIntosh, victims of the automobile accident early Friday morning just off the Oak street road, 14 miles from Brainerd.

S. E. Koop of Crosby deputy coroner was in charge of the inquest and the jury was composed of the following citizens: R. D. King, Albert Fox, W. C. Kylo, Harry O'Brien, P. M. Zakariassen and G. W. Hess.

The inquest was held at the D. E. Whitney undertaking parlors at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. In addition to three of the young people who were in the car at the time of the fatal accident, Wayland Smith of Minneapolis, father of the young man who was killed, was present.

The witnesses to the tragic occurrence who testified were, Harry C. Toms who drove the car at the time of the tragedy, Mrs. J. B. Hackett and Albert Sernett. Miss Sadie K. Pichler was unable to appear because of injuries sustained.

The evidence introduced by the witnesses who answered the questions submitted by County Attorney S. E. Alderman, was substantially in accord with the facts as stated yesterday in the account of the accident. The only matters of difference relating to the position of the persons in the Buick roadster when it went over and the rate of speed of the car when it reached the turn in the road.

The evidence went to prove that Albert Sernett was standing on the running board of the car while the other five persons were within the car. The driver, Harry C. Toms, stated that because of the presence of Albert Sernett on the running board, he was traveling at a comparatively slow speed and that when the car came to the unexpected turn and hit the loose material at the side of the road he lost control of it and it went over.

The witnesses seemed unable to determine anything definite about the rate of speed of the car, it being said that it was traveling at 15 or 20 or 25 miles an hour.

The witnesses told substantially the same story of the occurrence.

After hearing the testimony the coroner's jury brought in the following verdict: That the above named persons came to their death by the carelessness of the driver of the car, by overloading the car.

Wayland Smith of 3205 Columbus avenue, Minneapolis, who was grief stricken over the death of his son expressed himself as feeling that the occurrence was accidental, the young people unthinkingly going into the danger that resulted in the tragedy when they crowded into the Buick roadster.

The body of Wayland Harwood Smith was shipped to Minneapolis on the early morning train Saturday, the boy's father having come to Brainerd to make the arrangements for its shipment to Minneapolis where interment will be made.

STRIKE END IN THREE DAYS IS FORECAST

SETTLEMENT OF SHOPMEN'S
WALKOUT IN NORTHWEST
PREDICTED BY HENNING

STATEMENT FOLLOWS CONFER-ENCE OF LEADERS AND "BIG FIVE" PRESIDENTS

Minneapolis, July 15.—Northwest railroad shopmen today asked their leaders to consider seriously the calling off of the strike in this territory regardless of what action is taken in other sections, the strikers emphasizing the desire to return to work, and that they feel they are only pawns in the game being played by national shop craft leaders in Chicago to settle the controversy on a national basis. Union officials said it is true that the shopmen in the northwest have no grievances against their railroads and that it is apparent that the men could return to their jobs and be assured of just consideration of such minor adjustments as they ask.

Minneapolis, July 15.—Settlement of the railroad shopmen's strike in the northwest in the next two or three days was predicted today by R. A. Henning, chairman of the Federation of Shopcrafts and Machinists of 22 roads. His statement followed a conference yesterday between union leaders and presidents of the "Big Five" northwest railroads in the offices of Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific.

Declaring that the union men of the northwest wanted to give the national organization all the support possible because they believe a settlement on a national basis would be better for them and for the nation, Mr. Henning said the northwest shopmen might act independently of the national organization.

"There is no difficulty in the way of a settlement of the shopmen's strike in the northwest," Mr. Henning said. "We are waiting for a settlement on a national basis. Advices from all over the country make us believe that we are warranted in looking for success in a national way either by a settlement or by striking for a longer period."

"We want to give the national organization all the support we can, because we believe that a settlement on a national basis would be better for us and for the nation."

"We may get to the point where we may act here independently of the national organization. It looks to me like the strike will be settled one way or the other within two or three days. Union men are optimistic about it. I think chances for a settlement are very good."

Railroad presidents who attended the conference reported little change in the situation today as a result.

"The union leaders seemed disposed to reach an agreement with the northwest lines," Mr. Donnelly said. "They did not wish to make any settlement while there was a prospect of a national settlement in the near future. Informal discussion of terms of settlement indicated that we would have no trouble in arranging terms after men return to work."

AGED WOMAN, VICTIM OF BRUTAL ASSAULT, STILL HANGS ONTO LIFE

Grand Meadow, Minn., July 15.—Surviving wounds which ordinarily would cause almost instantaneous death in an aged person, Mrs. Wagner, 69, was still living today, and authorities hoped she might regain consciousness to tell who crushed her skull with an axe and killed her husband as he lay asleep Wednesday night.

John Terlinden, a relative and neighbor, said the axe used by the murderer was one owned by Wagner, and police testifying themselves, stated that the person who used the axe in the brutal assault on the aged pair, knew where to look for the weapon, and found it.

The axe was first used in prying open the screen door, and then on the heads of the wealthy old couple.

August Detloff, son-in-law of the Wagners, taken in custody at Leroy Thursday night, was still held in jail at Austin, and was being questioned as to the tragedy. Police said he comes of a prominent family, but that he was not in good faith either with the Wagner family or his own folks. Both families are among the oldest in this county, and have amassed considerable wealth.

Detloff claimed he was in Spring Valley at 9:30 Wednesday night, the night of the murder.

Police established the fact that he was there at that hour, but have not established his whereabouts after the hour.

The exact hour of the murder is not known by police, but they are certain it was after 10 p. m. Wednesday.

AUTOMOBILE TAX LAW RULED VALID BY SUPREME COURT

RESPONSIBILITY FOR FAIRNESS
OF MEASURE RESTS WITH
LEGISLATURE

Minneapolis, July 15.—While recognizing that there are glaring irregularities in the taxes paid by automobile owners, the Minnesota supreme court, in a decision handed down yesterday, held the Minnesota automobile tax law under the Babcock amendment constitutional.

"The responsibility for the fairness and justice of a tax measure rests upon the legislature and the court may not decide a measure invalid merely because it does not come up to its conception of a proper method of taxation," the court ruled.

The decision was rendered in case of Charles N. Dobs of St. Paul, against Mike Holm, secretary of state and registrar of motor vehicles. April 30, 1921, Mr. Dobs purchased a secondhand car for $2,350. When he applied for license in May the factory list price of car purchased was $3,600, upon which amount he paid a 2 per cent tax under protest.

He started suit in Ramsey county district court where it was decided that the list price of November, 1919, should have been the basis of his tax and he was awarded a refund of $5. He appealed to the supreme court for further relief, attacking the automobile tax law as unconstitutional, because the taxes levied under it were not uniform.

The supreme court decided, first, that in requiring the owner of a motor vehicle to pay a tax for the entire calendar year if he became the owner prior to July 31, the legislature did not exceed its powers. It decided further that the constitutional requirement of uniformity is not disregarded because the act exempts certain vehicles which are still subject to taxation, as is other personal property.

FOR OVERLOADING HIS CAR IN FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

BODY OF WAYLAND SMITH TAK-EN TO MINNEAPOLIS BY
FATHER FOR BURIAL

OCCUPANTS OF CAR TELL STORY OF ACCIDENT—ABOUT SAME AS PUBLISHED

Harry C. Toms was arraigned in municipal court at 12 noon today charged with manslaughter in the second degree after having been found guilty by the coroner's jury of carelessness in driving an overcrowded car, which resulted in the tragedy of Friday morning. The defendant demanded a hearing through his attorney, F. E. Murphy of Crosby, and the examination was set for July 21st at 2 p. m. He was remanded to the county jail to await his examination.

An inquest was held over the body of Wayland Harwood Smith of 3205 Columbus avenue, Minneapolis and Christene McIntosh, victims of the automobile accident early Friday morning just off the Oak street road, 14 miles from Brainerd.

S. E. Koop of Crosby deputy coroner was in charge of the inquest and the jury was composed of the following citizens: R. D. King, Albert Fox, W. C. Kylio, Harry O'Brien, P. M. Zakariassen and G. W. Hess.

The inquest was held at the D. E. Whitney undertaking parlors at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. In addition to three of the young people who were in the car at the time of the fatal accident, Wayland Smith of Minneapolis, father of the young man who was killed, was present.

The witnesses to the tragic occurrence who testified were, Harry C. Toms who drove the car at the time of the tragedy, Mrs. J. B. Hackert and Albert Sernett. Miss Sadie K. Pichler was unable to appear because of injuries sustained.

The evidence introduced by the witnesses who answered the questions submitted by County Attorney S. F. Alderman, was substantially in accord with the facts as stated yesterday in the account of the accident. The only matters of difference relating to the position of the persons in the Buick roadster when it went over and the rate of speed of the car when it reached the turn in the road.

The evidence went to prove that Albert Sernett was standing on the running board of the car while the other five persons were within the car. The driver, Harry C. Toms, stated that because of the presence of Albert Sernett on the running board, he was traveling at a comparatively slow speed and that when the car came to the unexpected turn and hit the loose material at the side of the road he lost control of it and it went over.

The witnesses seemed unable to determine anything definite about the rate of speed of the car, it being said that it was traveling at 15 or 20 or 25 miles an hour.

The witnesses told substantially the same story of the occurrence. After hearing the testimony the coroner's jury brought in the following verdict: That the above named persons came to their death by the carelessness of the driver of the car, by overloading the car.

Wayland Smith of 3205 Columbus avenue, Minneapolis, who was grief stricken over the death of his son expressed himself as feeling that the occurrence was accidental, the young people unthinkingly going into the danger that resulted in the tragedy when they crowded into the Buick roadster.

The body of Wayland Harwood Smith was shipped to Minneapolis on the early morning train Saturday, the boy's father having come to Brainerd to make the arrangements for its shipment to Minneapolis where interment will be made.

WOMEN NEEDED IN THE U. S. SENATEPERMANENT WORLD PEACE AND PROTECTION OF HOME SEEN
AS BIG ISSUES OF FUTURE

(By United Press)
Oshkosh, Wis., July 14.—"I think there is a great need for women in the United States senate."

This statement was made to the United Press by Mrs. Ben Hooper, who will be the democratic candidate for United States senator from Wisconsin at the fall election.

Mrs. Hooper will run against either Robt. S. LaFollette or William Ganfield, who are contestants for the republican nomination. Permanent world peace, protection of the home and harmony between all nations are the questions Mrs. Hooper will agitate if elected in the fall elections.

"Simply because it is a new thing for women to hold public office does not mean they are not fitted for it, or will be out of place," continued Mrs. Hooper. "What is needed today is more women holding public offices. I feel strongly the need of women in the senate. The woman's viewpoint is needed. A woman has ideas and views far different than those of men. I hardly know whether to call it a 'gentler' viewpoint. Perhaps it is just a more humane outlook."

"At any rate, women take more heed of the humane side of life; and that is sorely needed right now."

Country Needs Women
"The country needs a woman's viewpoint in many of the vital matters that are now before Congress. It is because of my desire to continue my work on world peace that I am willing to go into this fight and go into it with an idea of winning," she said.

Mrs. Hooper, extremely practical, businesslike, firm in her convictions and not over "sentimental," declared that she was in the fight to win and that she would give the opposition a hard run.

She is an ardent admirer of former President Wilson and favors his League of Nations plan. On other issues she declined to express her views, saying her work up to the present time had been wholly non-political.

Mrs. Hooper said that until the night of the convention at Milwaukee at which she was selected as the democratic candidate, she had not even had the remotest idea of entering into politics.

"Until the telephone rang that night and I was asked to take the nomination, I had never dreamed of becoming a candidate," she said. "I said I would be a candidate provided it were not necessary to make a fight for the nomination against another candidate. In other years women have frequently criticized men for refusing to take the responsibilities of public office and so when the responsibility came to me, I did not feel that I could refuse."

No Calling of Names
"I have no idea how I will make the campaign. I have not had time to think it over. Of one thing you can be certain—there will be no calling of names in my campaign. I shall stand on my record, which I feel is thoroughly understood by the people of Wisconsin."

Asked regarding her stand on the prohibition question, Mrs. Hooper said she was not a "wet," but did not care to go into this question.

For the past fifteen years up to the time the suffrage amendment was passed, Mrs. Hooper took an important part in the suffrage movement in the state of Wisconsin. Following this she was instrumental in organizing the Wisconsin League of Women Voters and has been president of the organization ever since it was formed.

During the war she played an important part in the work of the Council of Defense throughout the state of Wisconsin. She was also head of the Women's Liberty Loan drive here and took an active part in Red Cross work. Mrs. Hooper was born in Winnebago county, Ia., in 1865. She came to Wisconsin 35 years ago. She has one daughter, married.

Going into this fight heart and soul, strong in her convictions and confident, Mrs. Hooper gives the impression that the opposition will face a real fight. She has never before taken part in politics and indicated that, this being her first venture, she was not going to let such a splendid opportunity "fall by the wayside."

Abnormality in Mankind.

Regardless of whether "genius is to madness close allied," eccentricities no doubt could be found in all great men. But if the truth were known would not something just a trifle abnormal be discovered in everybody? Is it not too much to expect that the brain should always be well balanced under the terrific strain to which modern conditions of life subject it? What a dull place the world would be if everybody always did the conventional thing!—Exchange.

WOMEN NEEDED IN THE U. S. SENATE

PERMANENT WORLD PEACE AND PROTECTION OF HOME SEEN AS BIG ISSUES OF FUTURE

(By United Press)
Oshkosh, Wis., July 14—"I think there is a great need for women in the United States senate."

This statement was made to the United Press by Mrs. Ben Hooper, who will be the democratic candidate for United States senator from Wisconsin at the fall election.

Mrs. Hooper will run against either Robt. S. LaFollette or William Ganfield, who are contestants for the republican nomination. Permanent world peace, protection of the home and harmony between all nations are the questions Mrs. Hooper will agitate if elected in the fall elections.

"Simply because it is a new thing for women to hold public office does not mean they are not fitted for it, or will be out of place," continued Mrs. Hooper. "What is needed today is more women holding public offices. I feel strongly the need of women in the senate. The woman's viewpoint is needed. A woman has ideas and views far different than those of men. I hardly know whether to call it a 'gentler' viewpoint. Perhaps it is just a more humane outlook."

"At any rate, women take more heed of the humane side of life; and that is sorely needed right now."

Country Needs Women
"The country needs a woman's viewpoint in many of the vital matters that are now before Congress. It is because of my desire to continue my work on world peace that I am willing to go into this fight and go into it with an idea of winning," she said.

Mrs. Hooper, extremely practical, businesslike, firm in her convictions and not over "sentimental," declared that she was in the fight to win and that she would give the opposition a hard run.

She is an ardent admirer of former President Wilson and favors his League of Nations plan. On other issues she declined to express her views, saying her work up to the present time had been wholly non-political.

Mrs. Hooper said that until the night of the convention at Milwaukee at which she was selected as the democratic candidate, she had not even had the remotest idea of entering into politics.

"Until the telephone rang that night and I was asked to take the nomination, I had never dreamed of becoming a candidate," she said. "I said I would be a candidate provided it were not necessary to make a fight for the nomination against another candidate. In other years women have frequently criticized men for refusing to take the responsibilities of public office and so when the responsibility came to me, I did not feel that I could refuse."

No Calling of Names
"I have no idea how I will make the campaign. I have not had time to think it over. Of one thing you can be certain—there will be no calling of names in my campaign. I shall stand on my record, which I feel is thoroughly understood by the people of Wisconsin."

Asked regarding her stand on the prohibition question, Mrs. Hooper said she was not a "wet," but did not care to go into this question.

For the past fifteen years up to the time the suffrage amendment was passed, Mrs. Hooper took an important part in the suffrage movement in the state of Wisconsin. Following this she was instrumental in organizing the Wisconsin League of Women Voters and has been president of the organization ever since it was formed.

During the war she played an important part in the work of the Council of Defense throughout the state of Wisconsin. She was also head of the Women's Liberty Loan drive here and took an active part in Red Cross work. Mrs. Hooper was born in Wineshask county, Ia., in 1865. She came to Wisconsin 35 years ago. She has one daughter, married.

G. L. ENEMARK

Phone 673-R

Going into this fight heart and soul, strong in her convictions and confident, Mrs. Hooper gives the impression that the opposition will face a real fight. She has never before taken part in politics and indicated that, this being her first venture, she was not going to let such a splendid opportunity "fall by the wayside."

Abnormality in Mankind.
Regardless of whether "genius" is to madness close allied, "eccentricities" no doubt could be found in all great men. But if the truth were known would not something just a trifle abnormal be discovered in everybody? Is it not too much to expect that the brain should always be well balanced under the terrific strain to which modern conditions of life subject it? What a dull place the world would be if everybody always did the conventional thing!—Exchange.

That's All.
"Heaven is not distant," said a recent lecturer. We have always heard that it is only one flight up.—Boston Transcript.

ECKO STOCK FARM ADDS BIG NEW BARN

Large and Commodious Structure Necessary to Care for Fine Stock Raised

HAS FULL CONCRETE FLOOR
Is of Fine Construction 36x130 Feet of Gothic Design and Fully Equipped

The Echo stock farm, one of the big Agricultural developments of Crow Wing county, have been making an important addition to their buildings on their large farm. This new building is a large and beautiful barn which has attracted the attention of those who have passed the farm during the past few weeks while the building has been progressing.

This barn is 36 by 130 feet and is of a continuous construction of rafters from foundation to foundation. It is of the round top or Gothic design. The rafters are made out of 5 boards, one by four inches, nailed together. The length of the continuous rafters is 81 feet and the barn is roughly 32 feet in height.

There will be a full concrete floor and the new building will be equipped throughout with the Olson Manufacturing Co.'s horse stalls. This company has its factory at Albert Lea. There will be room for 64 cows in the barn.

At each end on the east side there will be a silo with a capacity of 150 and 200 tons respectively.

There are 50 windows of which 41 are full size, 8 by 10 with eight lights, and nine are 8 by 10, with four lights.

The ventilation is supplied by running two 24 inch square ventilators up alongside of each silo and extending above the silos about one foot. These ventilators are cut into the barn at the bottom and the ceiling. Fresh air intakes of which there are 20 are placed on each side of the barn about three feet from the foundation and are run up between the studding, opening into the barn at the ceiling, with proper shut off appliances to close them when necessary. The ventilators are of airtight construction, being made of double flooring with paper between.

This new barn is connected with the old barn by a lean-to of 16 by 150 feet. The old barn is 36 by 80. In the barn of 150 feet there are 17 large stalls with an alleyway in front six feet wide. Each stall is nearly 8 feet by 9 feet inside.

A. H. Scott, vice president of the Brainerd State bank, is manager of the Echo stock farm which employs six men. The farm is owned by the Echo Stock farm, incorporated, of which Fred H. Gruenhagen is president. This farm is 430 acres in size and another farm owned by the same company is in Ottertail county and is 700 acres in size.

These improvements go a long way towards developing enthusiasm for agricultural enterprises in Crow Wing county and advertise the value of the county for the purposes of agriculture.

Not to Be Forgotten.

Remember that the opportunity of a lifetime must be grasped during the lifetime of the opportunity.

PREACHER DESERTS WIFE BECAUSE SHE ATE WITH KNIFE

INCIDENTALLY HE RAN AWAY WITH PRETTY ORGANIST DESERTING HOME

(By United Press.)
Port Huron, Mich., July 15.—"She ate with a knife, and was no inspiration to me."

This description of his wife was the reason given by Walter Culp of Spring Valley, minister, who deserted his wife and nine children for his flight with Esther Hughes, pretty church organist.

Sitting quietly in the little county jail here, Culp told of the incidents leading up to his unministerial escapade.

"Mary, my wife, was a drag. Little Mary, who is here with me, has been my inspiration," the preacher said.

"My father made me marry the woman who is my legal wife. He said, 'Walter, there is the girl for you.' It was Mary Esta Hughes."

There is a strange similarity in the names of the two women who have figured in Culp's life. His wife before her marriage was Mary Esta Hughes. The name of his affinity is Mary Esther Hughes. They are not related.

Running his fingers through his light sandy hair, Culp said: "During my first sermon in Spring Valley I met Esther. I fell in love with her. She came to live with us. My wife objected. Finally my wife said, 'the girl will have to go.' I replied as I should have that if Esther went I would have to go too. Then my wife packed my clothes. I kissed the children goodbye and Esther and I left."

Culp was working as a hotel porter when found by officials.

SAYS SOVIET IS COINING REAL MONEY

(By United Press.)
London, July 14.—Silver coins to the amount of 5,000,000 roubles have been minted by the Russian government in the Petrograd mint, according to the Moscow correspondent of the Rigasche (Riga) Rundschau. The minting was begun September 1, last, and the coins are of 10, 15, 20 and 25 kopeks and one rouble. They are 90 per cent silver and 10 per cent alloy.

The currency is not to go into circulation, however. But is to form the security for a new note issue, which may eventually supersede the old one. The coins, according to the correspondent, greatly resemble the old Czarist coins, except that the bear a Soviet inscription.

"Amazing as it may seem," the correspondent writes, "an improvement in the currency conditions of Soviet Russia may be noted in the last month, chiefly caused by the cessation of paper money issues. The measures taken by the government with a view to stabilizing the currency could almost be called brutal.

"Meanwhile the rouble's rate rises.

ECKO STOCK FARM ADDS BIG NEW BARN

Large and Commodious Structure
Necessary to Care for Fine
Stock Raised

HAS FULL CONCRETE FLOOR
Is of Fine Construction 36x130 Feet of Gothic Design and Fully Equipped

The Echo stock farm, one of the big Agricultural developments of Crow Wing county, have been making an important addition to their buildings on their large farm. The new building is a large and beautiful barn which has attracted the attention of those who have passed the farm during the past few weeks while the building has been progressing.

This barn is 36 by 130 feet and is of a continuous construction of rafter from foundation to foundation. It is of the round top or Gothic design.
The rafters are made out of 5 boards,
one by four inches, nailed together.
The length of the continuous rafters is 81 feet and the barn is roughly 32 feet in height.

There will be a full concrete floor and the new building will be equipped throughout with the Olson Manufacturing Co's. hose stalls. This company has its factory at Albert
Lea. There will be room for 64 cows in the barn.

At each end on the east side there will be a silo with a capacity of 150 and 200 tons respectively.

There are 50 windows of which 41 are full size, 8 by 10 with eight lights, and nine are 8 by 10, with four lights.

The ventilation is supplied by running two 24 inch square ventilators up alongside of each silo and extending above the silos about one foot.
These ventilators are cut into the barn at the bottom and the ceiling.
Fresh air intakes of which there are 20 are placed on each side of the barn about three feet from the foundation and are run up between the studding, opening into the barn at the ceiling, with proper shut off appliances to close them when necessary. The ventilators are of airtight construction, being made of double flooring with paper between.

This new barn is connected with the old barn by a lean-to of 16 by 150 feet. The old barn is 36 by 80.
In the barn of 150 feet there are 17 large stalls with an alleyway in front six feet wide. Each stall is nearly 8 feet by 9 feet inside.

A. H. Scott, vice president of the BRAINERD State bank, is manager of the Echo stock farm which employs six men. The farm is owned by the Echo Stock farm, incorporated, of which Fred H. Gruenhagen is president. This farm is 430 acres in size and another farm owned by the same company is in Ottotail county and is 700 acres in size.

These improvements go a long way towards developing enthusiasm for agricultural enterprises in Crow Wing county and advertise the value of the county for the purposes of agriculture.

Not to Be Forgotten.
Remember that the opportunity of a

PREACHER DESERTS WIFE BECAUSE SHE ATE WITH KNIFE

INCIDENTALLY HE RAN AWAY WITH PRETTY ORGANIST
DESERTING HOME

(By United Press)
Port Huron, Mich., July 15—"She ate with a knife, and was no inspiration to me."

This description of his wife was the reason given by Walter Culp of Spring Valley, minister, who deserted his wife and nine children for his flight with Esther Hughes, pretty church organist.

Sitting quietly in the little county jail here, Culp told of the incidents leading up to his unministerial escapade.

"Mary, my wife, was a drag.
Little Mary, who is here with me,
has been my inspiration," the preacher said.

"My father made me marry the woman who is my legal wife. He said, 'Walter, there is the girl for you.' It was Mary Esta Hughes."

There is a strange similarity in the names of the two women who have figured in Culp's life. His wife before her marriage was Mary Esta Hughes. The name of his acquaintance is Mary Esther Hughes. They are not related.

Running his fingers through his light sandy hair, Culp said: "During my first sermon in Spring Valley I met Esther. I fell in love with her. She came to live with us.
My wife objected. Finally my wife said, 'the girl will have to go.' I replied as I should have that if Esther went I would have to go too.
Then my wife packed my clothes. I kissed the children goodbye and Esther and I left."

Culp was working as a hotel porter when found by officials.

SAYS SOVIET IS COINING REAL MONEY

(By United Press.)
London, July 14.—Silver coins to the amount of 5,000,000 roubles have been minted by the Russian government in the Petrograd mint, according to the Moscow correspondent of the Rigaasche (Riga) Rundschau.
The minting was begun September 1, last, and the coins are of 10, 15, 20 and 25 kopeks and one rouble. They are 90 per cent silver and 10 per cent alloy.

The currency is not to go into circulation, however, but is to form the security for a new note issue, which may eventually supersede the old one.
The coins, according to the correspondent, greatly resemble the old
Czarist coins, except that the bear a Soviet inscription.

"Amazing as it may seem," the correspondent writes, "an improvement in the currency conditions of Soviet Russia may be noted in the last month, chiefly caused by the cessation of paper money issues. The measures taken by the government with a view to stabilizing the currency could almost be called brutal.

"Meanwhile the rouble's rate rises,

BETTER JOBS FOR SERVICE MEN

THE Information department of the Veterans' Bureau has recently made public some interesting figures showing the increased earning power of disabled veterans who have received vocational training in agriculture.

About 15,000 disabled ex-service men are training in agriculture under the Bureau. Of this number 50 per cent are receiving their training in recognized agricultural schools and colleges throughout the country. The remainder are receiving replacement training on dairy farms, ranches, poultry farms, and with fruit growers.

A survey of 212 men who have completed their courses shows that they are earning an average of $498.71 more per annum than they received prior to their war service. They are receiving this increased salary in spite of their disabilities.

Even greater increase of earning power is shown by men training along special lines. Those who have completed their training as dairy farm foremen are now receiving an average of $850 more per year than before the war; landscape gardeners an average of $805 more per year than before; several nursery men who received an average of $1,125 prior to their enlistment, now, in spite of their disabilities, are receiving an average salary of $2,125 per annum, or $900 more per year than they were receiving prior to the war. In forestry, men whose pre-war salary averaged $766.66 now earn an average of $1,712.50; lumbermen, formerly $1,350, now average $2,500 per year.

In addition to training the veteran, the Bureau makes every effort to secure employment for him after the completion of his course. Under the reorganization of the rehabilitation work effected by the Sweet law, rehabilitation is at last being placed upon a sound economic basis.

PROSPECTS OF REPUBLICAN YEAR

REPUBLICAN papers throughout the country very generally express confidence that this will be a Republican year. With the single exception of the North Dakota primary election, where Senator McCumber, because of personal objections, was defeated for renomination by a Nonpartisan candidate, every Senatorial and Congressional nominee of the Republican primaries supports the Harding administration. Such primaries as have been held, too, show a great preponderance of Republicans in the voting.

It is not claimed that everyone is pleased, however. There is, as everybody knows, much grumbling over high taxes, but everybody also knows, or should know, that at least four-fifths of the national budget is a permanent charge for which the present administration is not responsible. There have been unavoidable delays in readjustment, and it cannot be denied that Congress has been dilatory, but this has been altogether due to the personnel of the two houses. The inevitable post bellum reaction, which had to come, as it has always come after all great wars, was staved off for a time by a fatuous policy, but has now been safely passed and the country will soon settle down to normalcy.

There are problems yet to be settled which should be decided by men who will not be afraid of losing votes to the point of misrepresenting the best interests of the whole people. The Republicans of Minnesota have nominated such men as their candidates for the Senate and House.

The hope of the Democrats seems to be to arouse factionalism among the Republicans, and thus cause a split in the party. But it is in the hands of the party itself to make this a Republican year, by supporting the Republican candidates who we doubt not will meet the approval of the rank and file of the party.

TARIFF ACTION DEMANDED

THERE is an insistent demand upon the part of the public for Congress to speed up action on the tariff bill. Speedy disposal of the tariff question is indeed an economic need. Quite aside from the merits or demerits of the pending bill, action that will end the uncertainty will be beneficial to American industry and commerce. Uncertainty as to tariff rates is naturally destructive of initiative all along the line. It follows as a matter of course that manufacturers hesitate to speed up production; buyers of farm and orchard products are in doubt as to how far they can go with future contracts; and importers must take chances of possible loss if they continue to bring in foreign products or manufactures. It is therefore of the highest importance that the tariff question be disposed of as soon as possible.

Those who read the proceedings of the senate as published from day to day in the public press have no doubt noted that Democratic Senators are doing everything possible to obstruct and retard needed legislation. They defeated the cloture resolution, which was proposed for the purpose of limiting the endless and meaningless discussions of the tariff bill. The people of the country will know that the Republican party is not responsible for the dilatory tactics in Congress. They know also that the Democrats want to prevent legislation, because of its influence on the November elections.

A QUEER FALLACY

A NOTION that appears to exist in the minds of a great many people, that unless we import goods from a country we cannot export anything to that country, is one of the greatest fallacies in economics and world trade. How this erroneous idea may have originated is not important; but though it has no basis in fact it has been put forth frequently in the last 40 years by the theoretical free traders as an argument against protection. They insist that through some peculiar process they claim to have discovered, reducing our imports always reduces our exports. But nothing of this kind has ever happened, and none of the theorists have ever been able to explain why they think their supposed law should work as they say it must work. There is absolutely nothing to it

MAY BE OBTAINED AT ALL
NEWSPAPER OFFICES

St. Paul, July 15.—Minnesota trunk highways—the main roads marked with official numbers on yellow stars and commonly called Babcock roads—continue in excellent condition, according to the bulletin today from the state highway department.

Used in connection with official trunk route condition maps obtainable without charge at newspaper offices throughout the state, the bulletin affords an accurate index of highway conditions in Minnesota, barring changes which may follow heavy rains. Unsurfaced sections of the routes will be found heavy after rains, it was explained, and itineraries should be planned to avoid them when possible during wet weather.

First Learn To Handle
Your Clubs, Says Expert

BY ALEC HERD

(Written for the United Press)

There is a beginning to everything, and mercifully, perhaps, there is an end to everything. Not a very profound statement, you will say. True enough, but what I wish to point out is that a good beginning in golf, as in life itself, is more than half the battle. Begin badly, or, in other words, begin in the wrong way, and you are simply storing up trouble which will probably never be cured. This is why, in the series of articles which I am writing for the Daily Express and United Press, I am going to address myself to the absolute beginner.

The beginner at golf is, like the poor, always with us. Every day brings its new recruits, and it is because so many of them—the majority, I might say—have such very hazy ideas how best to embark on this most fascinating and difficult of all games, that we are rapidly producing a race of C-3 golfers. The average novice sallies forth burdened with a number of obsessions and an equipment about which he knows little or nothing. I do not know which is the more harmful, his brand new bag of brand new clubs or his obsessions.

Not So Difficult

"Keep your eye on the ball" is one prepossession which has probably permanently injured the style of more beginners than any of the others. It is a definite injunction to put down a ball and try to hit it.

You frequently hear of people who surprise themselves and their friends by the ease with which they get the ball away at their first attempt. The game is not so difficult, after all, they declare buoyantly, and then comes the awakening. The ball becomes indefinitely small and extraordinarily elusive when next they try, and in a panic of despair and disappointment they slash away anyhow. This is when the disillusioned beginner should be taken firmly in hand.

No novice at golf should be trusted with a ball in his first fortnight, until he has learned how to grip the club and how to swing it.

Many beginners seek to acquire the inter-locked grip under the impression that it possesses peculiar virtues. It is used, of course, by many great golfers, but I think that for the majority of people with hands of average size the palm grip is the safer. Personally, I find that it gives me a securer hold on the club, and for the novice I think the—shall I say, somewhat complicated?—arrangement of the fingers in the interlocked grip is apt to be disconcerting. Two of the greatest of the many exponents of the palm grip are Mr. John Ball—in my opinion the finest amateur golfer who ever lived—and Abe Mitchell.

Perfect Rhythm

Having definitely decided on the most suitable grip, the next thing is to acquire the correct swing. This can only be done under the guidance of a proficient coach, and, as I have previously said, without the distraction—in the beginning—of having to hit a ball. I do not know why it is, but a golf ball exercises a hypnotic effect on most people. You see men with years of experience practising at daisy heads around the first tees. Their swing is practically all that could be desired, but when their turn comes to play, they snatch at the ball like the merest tyro.

These are the people who have begun wrongly. Their aim is to hit the ball somehow, anyhow. The true golf swing, full of grace and rhythm, remains with them as a kind of subconscious ideal, an ideal which they are incapable of putting into execution at the moment of the test.

This is why I insist on a fortnight's practice at swinging as a start, so that control of the club and the perfect rhythm of the stroke form the natural basis of the game. When these have been acquired the pupil may practice hitting a ball into

NORTHWEST NEWS

Regents Start Annual Inspection

St. Paul, July 15.—Regents of the University of Minnesota, including Governor Preus, today started on their annual inspection of the state's agricultural stations and projects.

Editors of leading agricultural papers of the northwest have been invited to join the tour, and many members of the university extension division and university faculty will go along.

The first session was scheduled at the southeast demonstration farm at Waseca today. Tomorrow it is planned to visit the Zumbra Heights fruit breeding station. Monday the University farm will go under inspection.

Next week the party will visit the school at Morris, the experimental work on the Coon Creek peat bogs, the northwest experimental school at Crookston, the forestry division work at Itasca State park, Cass Lake, and Grand Rapids experimental schools the forestry experiment station at Cloquet, and projects at Duluth and on the Iron range.

BETTER JOBS FOR SERVICE MEN

THE Information department of the Veterans' Bureau has recently made public some interesting figures showing the increased earning power of disabled veterans who have received vocational training in agriculture.

About 15,000 disabled ex-service men are training in agriculture under the Bureau. Of this number 50 per cent are receiving their training in recognized agricultural schools and colleges throughout the country. The remainder are receiving replacement training on dairy farms, ranches, poultry farms, and with fruit growers.

A survey of 212 men who have completed their courses shows that they are earning an average of $498.71 more per annum than they received prior to their war service. They are receiving this increased salary in spite of their disabilities.

Even greater increase of earning power is shown by men training along special lines. Those who have completed their training as dairy farm foremen are now receiving an average of $850 more per year than before the war; landscape gardeners an average of $805 more per year than before; several nursery men who received an average of $1,125 prior to their enlistment, now, in spite of their disabilities, are receiving an average salary of $2,125 per annum, or $900 more per year than they were receiving prior to the war. In forestry, men whose pre-war salary averaged $766.66 now earn an average of $1,712.50; lumbermen, formerly $1,350, now average $2,500 per year.

In addition to training the veteran, the Bureau makes every effort to secure employment for him after the completion of his course. Under the reorganization of the rehabilitation work effected by the Sweet law, rehabilitation is at last being placed upon a sound economic basis.

PROSPECTS OF REPUBLICAN YEAR

REPUBLICAN papers throughout the country very generally express confidence that this will be a Republican year. With the single exception of the North Dakota primary election, where Senator McCumber, because of personal objections, was defeated for renomination by a Nonpartisan candidate, every Senatorial and Congressional nominee of the Republican primaries supports the Harding administration. Such primaries as have been held, too, show a great preponderance of Republicans in the voting.

It is not claimed that everyone is pleased, however. There is, as everybody knows, much grumbling over high taxes, but everybody also knows, or should know, that at least four-fifths of the national budget is a permanent charge for which the present administration is not responsible. There have been unavoidable delays in readjustment, and it cannot be denied that Congress has been dilatory, but this has been altogether due to the personnel of the two houses. The inevitable post bellum reaction, which had to come, as it has always come after all great wars, was stayed off for a time by a fatuous policy, but has now been safely passed and the country will soon settle down to normalcy.

There are problems yet to be settled which should be decided by men who will not be afraid of losing votes to the point of misrepresenting the best interests of the whole people. The Republicans of Minnesota have nominated such men as their candidates for the Senate and House.

The hope of the Democrats seems to be to arouse factionalism among the Republicans, and thus cause a split in the party. But it is in the hands of the party itself to make this a Republican year, by supporting the Republican candidates who we doubt not will meet the approval of the rank and file of the party.

TARIFF ACTION DEMANDED

THERE is an insistent demand upon the part of the public for Congress to speed up action on the tariff bill. Speedy disposal of the tariff question is indeed an economic need. Quite aside from the merits or demerits of the pending bill, action that will end the uncertainty will be beneficial to American industry and commerce. Uncertainty as to tariff rates is naturally destructive of initiative all along the line. It follows as a matter of course that manufacturers hesitate to speed up production; buyers of farm and orchard products are in doubt as to how far they can go with future contracts; and importers must take chances of possible loss if they continue to bring in foreign products or manufactures. It is therefore of the highest importance that the tariff question be disposed of as soon as possible.

Those who read the proceedings of the senate as published from day to day in the public press have no doubt noted that Democratic Senators are doing everything possible to obstruct and retard needed legislation. They defeated the cloture resolution, which was proposed for the purpose of limiting the endless and meaningless discussions of the tariff bill. The people of the country will know that the Republican party is not responsible for the dilatory tactics in Congress. They know also that the Democrats want to prevent legislation, because of its influence on the November elections.

A QUEER FALLACY

A NOTION that appears to exist in the minds of a great many people, that unless we import goods from a country we cannot export anything to that country, is one of the greatest fallacies in economics and world trade. How this erroneous idea may have originated is not important; but though it has no basis in fact it has been put forth frequently in the last 40 years by the theoretical free traders as an argument against protection. They insist that through some peculiar process they claim to have discovered, reducing our imports always reduces our exports. But nothing of this kind has ever happened, and none of the theorists have ever been able to explain why they think their supposed law should work as they say it must work. There is absolutely nothing to it

BABCOCK ROADS IN GOOD CONDITION

WEEKLY BULLETIN ISSUED BY HIGHWAY DEPT. SHOWS PRACTICALLY ALL ROADS GOOD

MAPS OF ALL BABCOCK ROADS MAY BE OBTAINED AT ALL NEWSPAPER OFFICES

St. Paul, July 15.—Minnesota trunk highways—the main roads marked with official numbers on yellow stars and commonly called Babcock roads—continue in excellent condition, according to the bulletin today from the state highway department.

Used in connection with official trunk route condition maps obtainable without charge at newspaper offices throughout the state, the bulletin affords an accurate index of highway conditions in Minnesota, barring changes which may follow heavy rains. Unsurfaced sections of the routes will be found heavy after rains, it was explained, and itineraries should be planned to avoid them when possible during wet weather.

The condition of roads in this vicinity as given in the bulletin follows:

First Learn To Handle Your Clubs, Says Expert

BY ALEC HERD

(Written for the United Press)

There is a beginning to everything, and mercifully, perhaps, there is an ending to everything. Not a very profound statement, you will say. True enough, but what I wish to point out is that a good beginning in golf, as in life itself, is more than half the battle. Begin badly, or, in other words, begin in the wrong way, and you are simply storing up trouble which will probably never be cured. This is why, in the series of articles which I am writing for the Daily Express and United Press, I am going to address myself to the absolute beginner.

The beginner at golf is, like the poor, always with us. Every day brings its new recruits, and it is because so many of them—the majority, I might say—have such very hazy ideas how best to embark on this most fascinating and difficult of all games, that we are rapidly producing a race of C-3 golfers. The average novice sallies forth burdened with a number of obsessions and an equipment about which he knows little or nothing. I do not know which is the more harmful, his brand new bag of brand new clubs or his obsessions.

Not So Difficult

"Keep your eye on the ball" is one prepossession which has probably permanently injured the style of more beginners than any of the others. It is a definite injunction to put down a ball and try to hit it.

You frequently hear of people who surprise themselves and their friends by the ease with which they get the ball away at their first attempt. The game is not so difficult, after all, they declare buoyantly, and then comes the awakening. The ball becomes indefinitely small and extraordinarily elusive when next they try, and in a panic of despair and disappointment they slash away anyhow. This is when the disillusioned beginner should be taken firmly in hand.

No novice at golf should be trusted with a ball in his first fortnight, until he has learned how to grip the club and how to swing it.

Many beginners seek to acquire the inter-locked grip under the impression that it possesses peculiar virtues. It is used, of course, by many great golfers, but I think that for the majority of people with hands of average size the palm grip is the safer. Personally, I find that it gives me a securer hold on the club, and for the novice I think the—shall I say, somewhat complicated?—arrangement of the fingers in the interlocked grip is apt to be disconcerting. Two of the greatest of the many exponents of the palm grip are Mr. John Ball—in my opinion the finest amateur golfer who ever lived—and Abe Mitchell.

Perfect Rhythm

Having definitely decided on the most suitable grip, the next thing is to acquire the correct swing. This can only be done under the guidance of a proficient coach, and, as I have previously said, without the distraction—in the beginning—of having to hit a ball. I do not know why it is, but a golf ball exercises a hypnotic effect on most people. You see men with years of experience practising at daisy heads around the first tees. Their swing is practically all that could be desired, but when their turn comes to play, they snatch at the ball like the merest tyro.

These are the people who have begun wrongly. Their aim is to hit the ball somehow, anyhow. The true golf swing, full of grace and rhythm, remains with them as a kind of subconscious ideal, an ideal which they are incapable of putting into execution at the moment of the test.

This is why I insist on a fortnight's practice at swinging as a start, so that control of the club and the perfect rhythm of the stroke form the natural basis of the game. When these have been acquired the pupil may practice hitting a ball into

Regents Start Annual Inspection

St. Paul, July 15.—Regents of the University of Minnesota, including Governor Preus, today started on their annual inspection of the state's agricultural stations and projects.

Editors of leading agricultural papers of the northwest have been invited to join the tour, and many members of the university extension division and university faculty will go along.

The first session was scheduled at the southeast demonstration farm at Waseca today. Tomorrow it is planned to visit the Zumbra Heights fruit breeding station. Monday the University farm will go under inspection.

Next week the party will visit the school at Morris, the experimental work on the Coon Creek peat bogs, the northwest experimental school at Crookston, the forestry division work at Itasca State park, Cass Lake, and Grand Rapids experimental schools the forestry experiment station at Cloquet, and projects at Duluth and on the iron range.

Sentence Former Bank President

Fargo, N. D., July 15.—Judge Amidon will pronounce sentence in federal court here today on W. F. Stegge, former president of the First National bank of Medina.

Mr. Stegge, indicted by the grand jury, entered a plea of guilty on five counts to misapplication of funds.

FINAL MEETING OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Of the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration—All Committee Chairmen Being Present

PUBLISH FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Bills of Committees Were Approved—Auditing Committee of Three Will Be Appointed

The attendance of the committee heads at the final meeting of the executive committee on the Fiftieth anniversary and home-coming was a splendid evidence of the spirit in which the anniversary was initiated and carried through. Despite the sweltering heat of Friday evening almost all of the committee chairmen were present.

S. R. Adair, the efficient chairman of the executive committee, then called upon the head of each committee for a report. The reports were very satisfactory and the members of the central committee on Brainerd's great celebration were gratified as they heard the result of the efforts which had meant so much of time-giving and self denial on the part of the citizens who entered into the undertaking with splendid abandon.

All of the days were great days. Woodman did not draw so many to the city as had been expected, but the weather that day was threatening and prevented people driving in for the day. The Fourth of July was a big day when ex-soldiers and farmers of the county, joined in one great festival.

Home-comers' day, Children's day and Railroad day were all big days, and the Sunday service drew a large crowd to Gregory park.

The bills of the various committees were read and with some slight recommendations approved.

Arrangements were made to remove the decorations and signs which have not as yet been taken care of.

A final financial statement will be given to the public as soon as the auditing committee of three, which, by vote last evening, the chair was asked to appoint, has finished its work.

CLOUD AND MRS. CRONIN APPEAR COURT SATURDAY

St. Cloud, July 14.—Willard Cloud and Mrs. Lillian May Cronin of Minneapolis are scheduled to appear before Judge Roeser Saturday morning at which time the stay of sentence granted following conviction last May will have expired. The stay of sentence was granted in order that the case of Willard Cloud and Mrs. Cronin might be appealed to the supreme court.

No appeal action has been taken thus far and no transcript of the case has been ordered. In view of this lack of action on the part of the defendants, County Attorney Paul Ahles will ask that they be sentenced Saturday and will oppose any measure to have Mrs. Cronin acquitted on the grounds that she has returned to her husband, Walter Cronin, Minneapolis clerk.

Cloud and Mrs. Cronin were tried in district court last May on charges of adultery. Cloud was sentenced to two years in Stillwater prison and Mrs. Cronin to nine months in the women's reform school. The intention to appeal was then voiced and a stay of sentence was granted. It is believed that a further stay of sentence will be requested Saturday.

OLE PETERSON BUYS THE LEADER STOCK

And Has Opened for Business Under the Firm Name of the Peterson Clothing Co.

SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN

Will Hold Sale Soon to Clear Out the Old Stock—Install New Fixtures

The newest business house to be opened in Brainerd is that of the Peterson Clothing Co. with O. A. Peterson as proprietor. Mr. Peterson who has lived in Brainerd for 40 years and has sold good in the city since 1893 until a short while ago, to be exact February 18, 1922, has bought the stock of The Leader store from the Shoe Specialty Co. of St. Paul who had purchased it from the creditors and had been attempting to clean it out. Mr. Peterson was led to consider buying the stock because it was necessary to purchase the contents so as to secure the location which is a very desirable one. The store opens on to two streets Front and Seventh, standing as it does on the corner of the two streets named. Its corner location affords window space on both streets and adds to the possibility of an advantageous display of goods.

The store is now open under Mr. Peterson's direction and next week a big sale will be put on with rock bottom prices for the purpose of clearing out the stock. This consists of ladies and misses shoes and of men's and boys' clothing and furnishings. When the stock has been cleared out which may take about three weeks, new fixtures which have been purchased will be installed.

Until the 18th of February of this year, Mr. Peterson was with the firm of Bye & Peterson on Front street and had been a member of that firm for the past 13 years. Mr. Peterson is very well known in Brainerd and Crow Wing county, and is respected as a citizen and as a very competent business man. People will be glad to know that he has decided to re-enter the business life of the city.

The new clothing company will carry a complete line of men's and boys' clothing.

Auto Meeting Not Held

Owing to the meeting of the executive committee of the Fiftieth anniversary which took away several of those interested and the high temperature which made it hard to contemplate sitting in a warm room to listen to discussions, the meeting of those interested in automobiles was not held Friday evening.

G. Roy Hall, secretary of the State Association of Automobile clubs was at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and met a considerable number of automobile owners individually during the evening.

Those interested in the work of the association expect to hold a meeting at a later date when a temporary organization will be formed.

BUY NEW ORGAN

First Congregational Church Congregation Makes Purchase of New Instrument

The contract has been signed by the trustees of the First Congregational church and forwarded to the manufacturers of the Moller Organ Co. at Hagerstown, Maryland, calling for the installation of a Moller organ ready for opening by the first of November, 1922. The organ will be equipped with 14 stops. The contract was made in accordance with the proposition presented at the meeting after the improvements to the building had been completed last fall in which two individuals each agreed to carry one-third of the cost of the organ and the Ladies' Aid society the remaining third.

FINAL MEETING OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Of the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration—All Committee Chairmen Being Present

PUBLISH FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Bills of Committees Were Approved—Auditing Committee of Three Will Be Appointed

The attendance of the committee heads at the final meeting of the executive committee on the Fiftieth anniversary and home-coming was a splendid evidence of the spirit in which the anniversary was initiated and carried through. Despite the sweltering heat of Friday evening almost all of the committee chairmen were present.

S. R. Adair, the efficient chairman of the executive committee, then called upon the head of each committee for a report. The reports were very satisfactory and the members of the central committee on Brainerd's great celebration were gratified as they heard the result of the efforts which had meant so much of time-giving and self denial on the part of the citizens who entered into the undertaking with splendid abandon.

All of the days were great days. Woodman did not draw so many to the city as had been expected, but the weather that day was threatening and prevented people driving in for the day. The Fourth of July was a big day when ex-soldiers and farmers of the county, joined in one great festival.

Home-comers' day, Children's day and Railroad day were all big days, and the Sunday service drew a large crowd to Gregory park.

The bills of the various committees were read and with some slight recommendations approved.

Arrangements were made to remove the decorations and signs which have not as yet been taken care of.

A final financial statement will be given to the public as soon as the auditing committee of three, which, by vote last evening, the chair was asked to appoint, has finished its work.

CLOUD AND MRS. CRONIN APPEAR COURT SATURDAY

St. Cloud, July 14.—Willard Cloud and Mrs. Lillian May Cronin of Minneapolis are scheduled to appear before Judge Roeser Saturday morning at which time the stay of sentence granted following conviction last May will have expired. The stay of sentence was granted in order that the case of Willard Cloud and Mrs. Cronin might be appealed to the supreme court.

No appeal action has been taken thus far and no transcript of the case has been ordered. In view of this lack of action on the part of the defendants, County Attorney Paul Ahles will ask that they be sentenced Saturday and will oppose any measure to have Mrs. Cronin acquitted on the grounds that she has returned to her husband, Walter Cronin, Minneapolis clerk.

Cloud and Mrs. Cronin were tried in district court last May on charges of adultery. Cloud was sentenced to two years in Stillwater prison and Mrs. Cronin to nine months in the women's reform school. The intention to appeal was then voiced and a stay of sentence was granted. It is believed that a further stay of sentence will be requested Saturday.

Gun Club Shoot

At the shoot of the Brainerd Gun club held on Thursday out at the range on the Holland addition, N. E. Brainerd, the following scores were registered. In the long run of 25 or more, H. Kalland made two runs of 38 and 27 respectively. C. Wright, 28, A. Kalland 29 and B. W. Orne 28. In the singles the scores were:

|                      | Hit | Shot |
|----------------------|-----|------|
| H. Kalland           | 73  | 75   |

OLE PETERSON BUYS THE LEADER STOCK

And Has Opened for Business Under the Firm Name of the Peterson Clothing Co.

SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN

Will Hold Sale Soon to Clear Out the Old Stock—Install New Fixtures

The newest business house to be opened in Brainerd is that of the Peterson Clothing Co. with O. A. Peterson as proprietor. Mr. Peterson who has lived in Brainerd for 40 years and has sold good in the city since 1893 until a short while ago, to be exact February 18, 1922, has bought the stock of The Leader store from the Shoe Specialty Co. of St. Paul who had purchased it from the creditors and had been attempting to clean it out. Mr. Peterson was led to consider buying the stock because it was necessary to purchase the contents so as to secure the location which is a very desirable one. The store opens on to two streets Front and Seventh, standing as it does on the corner of the two streets named. Its corner location affords window space on both streets and adds to the possibility of an advantageous display of goods.

The store is now open under Mr. Peterson's direction and next week a big sale will be put on with rock bottom prices for the purpose of clearing out the stock. This consists of ladies and misses shoes and of men's and boys' clothing and furnishings. When the stock has been cleared out which may take about three weeks, new fixtures which have been purchased will be installed.

Until the 18th of February of this year, Mr. Peterson was with the firm of Dee & Peterson on Front street and had been a member of that firm for the past 13 years. Mr. Peterson is very well known in Brainerd and Crow Wing county, and is respected as a citizen and as a very competent business man. People will be glad to know that he has decided to re-enter the business life of the city.

The new clothing company will carry a complete line of men's and boys' clothing.

Auto Meeting Not Held

Owing to the meeting of the executive committee of the Fiftieth anniversary which took away several of those interested and the high temperature which made it hard to contemplate sitting in a warm room to listen to discussions, the meeting of those interested in automobiles was not held Friday evening.

G. Roy Hall, secretary of the State Association of Automobile clubs was at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and met a considerable number of automobile owners individually during the evening.

Those interested in the work of the association expect to hold a meeting at a later date when a temporary organization will be formed.

Consider Parole Application

MARK TWAIN FILM

Queen Alexandra Sees Picture of "Yankee at Court of King Arthur"

(From the London Daily Sketch)

Queen Alexandra and other members of the Royal family were present yesterday at the Alhambra, where the film version of Mark Twain's novel "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" opened the cinema season.

A crowded house were kept in roars of laughter at the drolleries of the "Yankee."

Nothing has yet been screened so funny as Sir Lancelot and his knights setting out to the rescue of the King in a Ford car and hundreds of motorcycles.

It is to be shown at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday.

"Pilgrims of the Night"

"Pilgrims of the Night," the latest J. L. Frothingham production, will be shown at the New Park last time tonight. This production has been heralded by critics in the east who had the advantage of reviewing it before it was released as being one of the most thrilling and logical melodramas that has ever been produced on the screen.

It is an adaptation of the novel, "Passers By" from the pen of E. Phillips Oppenheim, the noted English author, who has written so many widely sold stories of international intrigue and adventure. The story concerns itself with the adventures growing out of the theft of 4,000,000 francs from the French sub-treasury and its subsequent disappearance from the place where the leader of the criminal band had hidden it.

The beautiful daughter of the master thief, complicates matters considerably by falling in love with the young Englishman who is actually responsible for the breaking up of the criminal band, and also by becoming imbued with a strange fascination for the man whom her foster father suspects of having betrayed him.

The story made possible an elaborate scenic production and according to reports, Mr. Frothingham took full advantage of every opportunity the novel offered for investing his production with beautiful settings.

Role Fits Ethel Clayton

While in England Miss Eve Unsell, scenario writer for Paramount pictures, read Winifred Boggs' novel of Australian and English life, "The Price of Possession." The role of Helen Barston so admirably fitted Ethel Clayton that the story was adapted for her use. The story tells of the struggle of a young Australian girl to gain control of an estate in England and the subsequent struggle with her love for James Barston, cousin of her dead husband. "The Price of Possession" will be shown at the Lyceum theatre for Sunday only.

HUGE CONCRETE TOWERS FIGHT SUBMARINES

(By United Press.)

London, July 15.—Mystery surrounding the huge concrete towers built by the admiralty just before the armistice was cleared up when Lieutenant Commander Kenworthy, during debate at the commons, explained that they were new anti-submarine weapons.

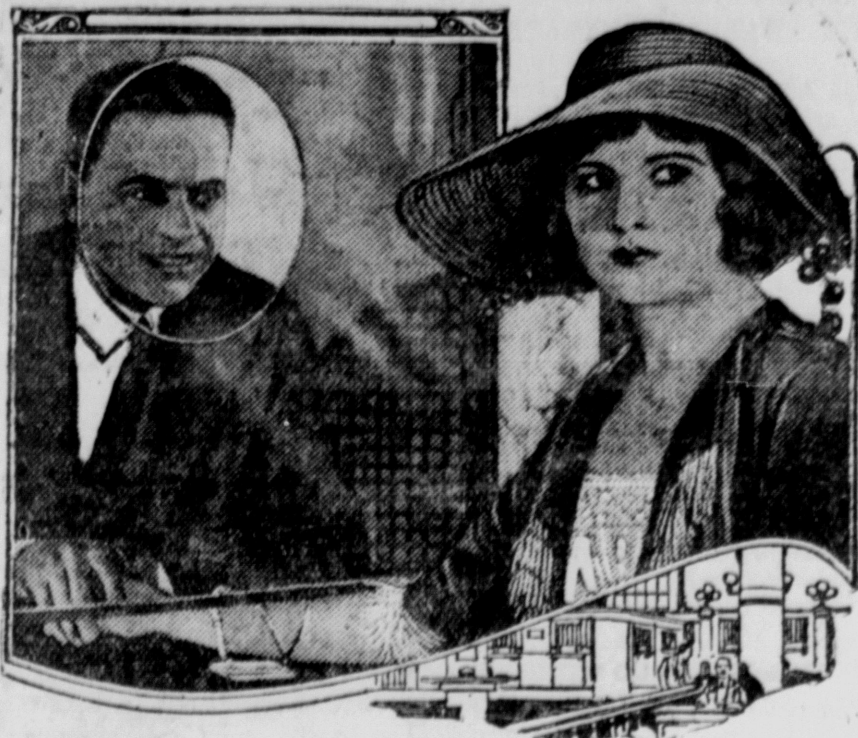

Towards the end of the war the admiralty completed two tremendous concrete structures, much like disproportionate pill-boxes, weighing thousands of tons, at channel ports. Ten other towers were under construction when the armistice was signed. Work was slowed on them, but finishing touches were put upon the completed towers.

When the excitement of the war had died down, the government was frequently questioned as to the proposed use of the towers. It was evident that they were to be sunk on the bottom of rivers or in shoals at sea.

The government consistently refused to say what they were for, even after one of them had been improvised as a lighthouse and the other, at Shoreham, Sussex, after attracting thousands of visitors, remained in the harbor unoccupied.

During a debate on admiralty appropriations in commons, Lieutenant Kenworthy urged that the remaining tower be towed to sea and sunk. Incidentally, he explained their use.

During the submarine campaign, it was vitally necessary to keep open the Straits of Dover, the main channel for troops and munitions from England to France. The admiralty

Douglas MacLean and Madge Bellamy in a scene from the Paramount Picture "Passing Thru"—A. Thomas H. Ince Production

Douglas MacLean's new Paramount comedy, "Passing Through," will be the feature at the Lyceum theatre tonight only. The popular young star's new vehicle is a relish-able comedy filled with laughs and thrills. The supporting cast includes Madge Bellamy, Willis Robards, Edith Yorke, Otto Hoffman and other equally well-known players.

The towers, the admiralty thought would provide much more efficient weapons than patrol boats, which were forced to seek shelter during rough weather. On the towers would have been mounted searchlights and guns, which would have swept the channel for miles around.

In addition, there would have been apparatus for the detection of submerged submarines by sound, and there would have been "keys" for exploding minefields through which the passage of submarines was suspected or established.

Unpleasant Discovery.

It is only when a man begins to dictate his letters that he finds out how poorly he can talk.—Boston Evening Transcript.

UNABLE TO AGREE ON MUSCLE SHOALS

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 15.—The senate agricultural committee was unable to agree today on a legislature report on any offer for development of the Muscle Shoals power project.

The Ford offer was rejected 9 to 7, and the Norris plan for government development was voted down 9 to 5.

None of the offers mustered sufficient votes to warrant a majority report, and consequently, only two minority reports will be submitted to the senate. One will favor the Ford project, and the other the Norris plan. This action will leave allocation of the development contract entirely to the senate body.

Little Room for Criticism.

There are so many jay walkers and so many jay drivers that it hardly behooves any driver to talk about jay walkers, or any walker to mention jay drivers.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

WANT TO MAINTAIN RUM NAVY ON GREAT LAKES

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 15.—Canada's proposal to the United States that the century old arms limitation pact which restricts naval armament on the Great Lakes be revamped, is going to be closely scrutinized by the Anti-Saloon league to make sure that its proposed modified terms will not prevent the maintenance of a rum navy on the lakes. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league announced today.

Unwilling to declare that he was suspicious of the proposal, Wheeler nevertheless said that the league would investigate the matter to see that the American rum defense is not hampered in its operations against international bootlegging.

SPORADIC FIGHTING IS REPORTED IN IRELAND

(By United Press.)

Dublin, July 15.—Sporadic fighting was reported from various points today.

The insurgent and Free State forces were reported entrenched opposite each other at Limerick where Eamonn De Valera was seen among the rebels. There were occasional bursts of machine gun firing, and frequent bomb explosions. Railroads were barricaded and supplies held back from the town. As a result, the population of 2,000 is in a panic and threatened with starvation.

Free State soldiers under Commandant McKeon captured Collooney, county Sligo, with 70 prisoners, after a four hour battle.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF 11 YEAR OLD GIRL

EXCITING GAME AT VICTORIA

Texans Satisfied They Got Their Money's Worth in Giving Omaha Ball Team a Bonus.

The business men of Victoria, Tex., agreed to give the Omaha club $3,000 to train its team there, and the natives think they got their money's worth out of the first exhibition game played. It was between the San Antonio Texas leaguers and the Omaha team and went 14 innings, the Texans winning, 4 to 3. According to all accounts no world's series game ever staged could beat it for thrills.

Reinstated and Let Go.

Russell Pence, a pitcher on the try-out list of the Chicago White Sox a year or two ago, but who quit the game, has been reinstated and released to the Decatur club of the Three-I league.

King Admires Shakespeare.

The king of Siam is one of the outspoken admirers of Shakespeare. This was learned through the recent anniversary celebrations at Stratford, when a letter was received by the chairman of the trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace, written by the king's secretary, who says that the king is translating Shakespeare's works into Siamese. The secretary sent on behalf of the king a check for $500 as a personal contribution to the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust and $250 for the memorial theater fund. He says that his majesty is an ardent admirer of the British national poet and is doing his utmost to induce the Siamese to study him.

Harmony of Colors.

It is a well-known fact that a pleasing harmony of colors attracts the eye much as musical harmony pleases the ear. In order to test the harmony of color combinations, a machine has been devised, described and illustrated in the Popular Mechanics Magazine, with which a colored disk is revolved rapidly so as to cause the colors to merge, and this visual mixing of the colors gives the same result to the eye as would the actual mixing of the colored inks themselves.

A Walkover.

Among the many amusing stories which Mr. Eugene Corri has at his command is one concerning a prize fight which occurred in America. One of the contestants had been instructed by his father to cable the result as soon as the fight was over. The son duly sent off the following message: "Won easily. Seventy-five rounds." —Tatler (London.)

"Ice Saints."

In many parts of continental Europe the idea has prevailed since the Middle ages that the days dedicated to SS. Mamertus, Pancras and Servatius—May 11, 12 and 13—or, according to another version, to SS. Pancras, Servatius and Boniface—May 12, 13 and 14—generally bring destructive frosts. On account of this belief, which has been the subject of much scientific discussion, both the saints in question and their days in the calendar were popularly known as the "ice saints."

The Ease and Comfort of 70 Horsepower Might

When you first sit behind the wheel of a Paige 6-66 you will be amazed at the ease and simplicity of control.

Gear shifting is an almost unconscious operation. The pressure of one finger on the lever is quite sufficient to make the change instantly and noiselessly.

As you step on the accelerator you will find that the car swings into its stride without a suggestion of overloading.

You have the might of 70 horsepower to draw upon—power that is almost liquid in flexibility—power that serves you at slow speeds or at the pace of an express train.

And, though you are the driver, you will find that the 6-66 has an uncanny way of steering itself. The wheel responds to the gentlest movement of your hands—seems, indeed, to anticipate your will in advance.

All this is fact, not fancy. It is the supreme attribute of the Paige 6-66—for the Daytona model is the holder of ten world's stock chassis speedway records and unquestioned Master of the Highway.

MARK TWAIN FILM

Queen Alexandra Sees Picture of "Yankee at Court of King Arthur"

(From the London Daily Sketch)
Queen Alexandra and other members of the Royal family were present yesterday at the Alhambra, where the film version of Mark Twain's novel "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" opened the cinema season.

A crowded house were kept in roars of laughter at the drolleries of the "Yankee."

Nothing has yet been screened so funny as Sir Lancelot and his knights setting out to the rescue of the King in a Ford car and hundreds of motorcycles.

It is to be shown at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday.

"Pilgrims of the Night"

"Pilgrims of the Night," the latest J. L. Frothingham production, will be shown at the New Park last time tonight. This production has been heralded by critics in the east who had the advantage of reviewing it before it was released as being one of the most thrilling and logical melodramas that has ever been produced on the screen.

It is an adaptation of the novel, "Passers By" from the pen of E. Phillips Oppenheim, the noted English author, who has written so many widely sold stories of international intrigue and adventure. The story concerns itself with the adventures growing out of the theft of 4,000,000 francs from the French sub-treasury and its subsequent disappearance from the place where the leader of the criminal band had hidden it.

The beautiful daughter of the master thief, complicates matters considerably by falling in love with the young Englishman who is actually responsible for the breaking up of the criminal band, and also by becoming imbued with a strange fascination for the man whom her foster father suspects of having betrayed him.

The story made possible an elaborate scenic production and according to reports, Mr. Frothingham took full advantage of every opportunity the novel offered for investing his production with beautiful settings.

Role Fits Ethel Clayton

While in England Miss Eve Unsell, scenario writer for Paramount pictures, read Winifred Boggs' novel of Australian and English life, "The Price of Possession." The role of Helen Barston so admirably fitted Ethel Clayton that the story was adapted for her use. The story tells of the struggle of a young Australian girl to gain control of an estate in England and the subsequent struggle with her love for James Barston, cousin of her dead husband. "The Price of Possession" will be shown at the Lyceum theatre for Sunday only.

HUGE CONCRETE TOWERS FIGHT SUBMARINES

(By United Press.)

London, July 15.—Mystery surrounding the huge concrete towers built by the admiralty just before the armistice was cleared up when Lieutenant Commander Kenworthy, during debate at the commons, explained that they were new anti-submarine weapons.

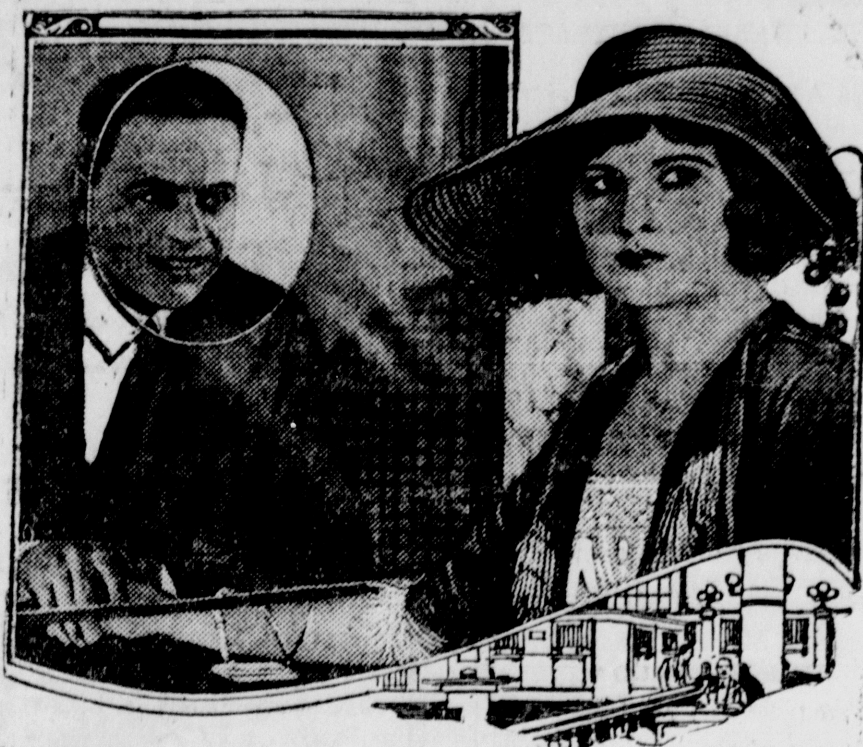

Towards the end of the war the admiralty completed two tremendous concrete structures, much like disproportionate pill-boxes, weighing thousands of tons, at channel ports. Ten other towers were under construction when the armistice was signed. Work was slowed on them, but finishing touches were put upon the completed towers.

When the excitement of the war had died down, the government was frequently questioned as to the proposed use of the towers. It was evident that they were to be sunk on the bottom of rivers or in shoals at sea.

The government consistently refused to say what they were for, even after one of them had been improvised as a lighthouse and the other, at Shoreham, Sussex, after attracting thousands of visitors, remained in the harbor unoccupied.

During a debate on admiralty appropriations in commons, Lieutenant Kenworthy urged that the remaining tower be towed to sea and sunk. Incidentally, he explained their use.

During the submarine campaign, it was vitally necessary to keep open the Straits of Dover, the main channel for troops and munitions from England to France. The admiralty invented the towers to combat the submarines. They were to be towed to sandbanks along the straits and sunk. They would have been occupied by the anti-submarine crews, where, reinforced by steel, they would have become island forts.

The towers, the admiralty thought would provide much more efficient weapons than patrol boats, which were forced to seek shelter during rough weather. On the towers would have been mounted searchlights and guns, which would have swept the channel for miles around.

In addition, there would have been apparatus for the detection of submerged submarines by sound, and there would have been "keys" for exploding minefields through which the passage of submarines was suspected or established.

It is only when a man begins to dictate his letters that he finds out how poorly he can talk.—Boston Evening Transcript.

UNABLE TO AGREE ON MUSCLE SHOALS

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 15.—The senate agricultural committee was unable to agree today on a legislative report on any offer for development of the Muscle Shoals power project.

The Ford offer was rejected 9 to 7, and the Norris plan for government development was voted down 9 to 5.

None of the offers mustered sufficient votes to warrant a majority report, and consequently, only two minority reports will be submitted to the senate. One will favor the Ford project, and the other the Norris plan. This action will leave allocation of the development contract entirely to the senate body.

Little Room for Criticism.

There are so many jay walkers and so many jay drivers that it hardly behooves any driver to talk about jay walkers, or any walker to mention jay drivers.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

WANT TO MAINTAIN RUM NAVY ON GREAT LAKES

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 15.—Canada's proposal to the United States that the century old arms limitation pact which restricts naval armament on the Great Lakes be revamped, is going to be closely scrutinized by the Anti-Saloon league to make sure that its proposed modified terms will not prevent the maintenance of a rum navy on the lakes, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league announced today.

Unwilling to declare that he was suspicious of the proposal, Wheeler nevertheless said that the league would investigate the matter to see that the American rum defense is not hampered in its operations against international bootlegging.

SPORADIC FIGHTING IS REPORTED IN IRELAND

(By United Press.)

Dublin, July 15.—Sporadic fighting was reported from various points today.

The insurgent and Free State forces were reported entrenched opposite each other at Limerick where Eamonn De Valera was seen among the rebels. There were occasional bursts of machine gun firing, and frequent bomb explosions. Railroads were barricaded and supplies held back from the town. As a result, the population of 2,000 is in a panic and threatened with starvation.

Free State soldiers under Commandant McKeon captured Collooney, county Sligo, with 70 prisoners, after a four hour battle.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF 11 YEAR OLD GIRL

(By United Press.)

Morristown, N. J., July 15.—Frances Kluxen, aged 15, was home today after having been quickly acquitted by a jury in his trial for the murder of 11-year-old Janet Lawrence.

EXCITING GAME AT VICTORIA

Texans Satisfied They Got Their Money's Worth in Giving Omaha Ball Team a Bonus.

The business men of Victoria, Tex., agreed to give the Omaha club $3,000 to train its team there, and the natives think they got their money's worth out of the first exhibition game played. It was between the San Antonio Texas leaguers and the Omaha team and went 14 innings, the Texans winning, 4 to 3. According to all accounts no world's series game ever staged could beat it for thrills.

Reinstated and Let Go.

Russell Pence, a pitcher on the try-out list of the Chicago White Sox a year or two ago, but who quit the game, has been reinstated and released to the Decatur club of the Three-I league.

King Admires Shakespeare.

The king of Siam is one of the outspoken admirers of Shakespeare. This was learned through the recent anniversary celebrations at Stratford, when a letter was received by the chairman of the trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace, written by the king's secretary, who says that the king is translating Shakespeare's works into Siamese. The secretary sent on behalf of the king a check for $500 as a personal contribution to the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust and $250 for the memorial theater fund. He says that his majesty is an ardent admirer of the British national poet and is doing his utmost to induce the Siamese to study him.

Harmony of Colors.

It is a well-known fact that a pleasing harmony of colors attracts the eye much as musical harmony pleases the ear. In order to test the harmony of color combinations, a machine has been devised, described and illustrated in the Popular Mechanics Magazine, with which a colored disk is revolved rapidly so as to cause the colors to merge, and this visual mixing of the colors gives the same result to the eye as would the actual mixing of the colored inks themselves.

A Walkover.

Among the many amusing stories which Mr. Eugene Corri has at his command is one concerning a prize fight which occurred in America. One of the contestants had been instructed by his father to cable the result as soon as the fight was over. The son duly sent off the following message: "Won easily. Seventy-five rounds." —Tattler (London).

"Ice Saints."

In many parts of continental Europe the idea has prevailed since the Middle Ages that the days dedicated to SS. Mamertus, Pancras and Servatius—May 11, 12 and 13—or, according to another version, to SS. Pancras, Servatius and Boniface—May 12, 13 and 14—generally bring destructive frosts. On account of this belief, which has been the subject of much scientific discussion, both the saints in question and their days in the calendar were popularly known as the "ice saints."

The Ease and Comfort of 70 Horsepower Might

When you first sit behind the wheel of a Paige 6-66 you will be amazed at the ease and simplicity of control.

Gear shifting is an almost unconscious operation. The pressure of one finger on the lever is quite sufficient to make the change instantly and noiselessly.

As you step on the accelerator you will find that the car swings into its stride without a suggestion of overloading.

You have the might of 70 horsepower to draw upon—power that is almost liquid in flexibility—power that serves you at slow speeds or at the pace of an express train.

And, though you are the driver, you will find that the 6-66 has an uncanny way of steering itself. The wheel responds to the gentlest movement of your hands—seems, indeed, to anticipate your will in advance.

All this is fact, not fancy. It is the supreme attribute of the Paige 6-66—for the Daytona model is the holder of ten world's stock chassis speedway records and unquestioned Master of the Highway.
